

Mixing

---

Custom seed blending is Granite Seed Company's specialty. We will gladly mix seed to your specifications — usually at no additional charge. However, special handling fees may apply for small or time-consuming orders, and please note that custom mixes cannot be returned.

Once Granite Seed blends seed types according to your specifications, they cannot be unblended or returned. This is because once mixed, seed components cannot be separated again into their original types. Additionally, seed blends are typically designed for specific projects, making them difficult to repurpose across other applications due to variations in site conditions and objectives.

If you're unsure about the exact blend needed for your project, we recommend ordering the components separately. Granite Seed will gladly restock unopened, separate seed lots for a small restocking charge, but we cannot accept returns of blended seed.